

A Texas "HOWDY" ...

Everything you want in one state you'll find the most of in Texas. It's the biggest, the hottest, coldest, wildest, ruggedest country on earth. In short, (if anything can be in Texas), it's the "bestest" as well as the biggest hunk of land in this, and nearly any other, Union. In true Texas tradition everything is colossal . . . from the mountains, deserts, green pastures, ranches and rivers scattered at random over 260,000 square miles, to the pink grapefruit, red sunsets and blankets of bluebonnets. All this, plus enough natural gas under it to float it away, but enough dough, dogies and derricks to keep it 'hog-tied' — combines to produce that special breed called "Texan". The tall men, tall-tales, long-horn steers and pretty gals are enough to shut my mouth and just say . . . "Howdy, from Texas!"
